“ Eric was a best friend of mine for most of my life and I miss him. I don't even have the words to explain how special he was, if you are here reading this then you already know anyway. Beyond words. Rest in peace my friend.

“ Eric came into my life when I was 9 years old. He spent the last 14 years as my step-dad, and he took that role seriously. In the last 14 years, Eric watched me grow from a little Elementary school kid to the woman I am now. He has been there for all of the major milestones along with the little pebbles in-between. From transitions from elementary to middle to highschool to college to teaching, Eric has been there through it all. He watched me graduaduate both highschool and College. Eric didnt just watch me do all of that. He helped me get there. He constantly supported me and all of of my adventures. I always knew he was one phone call away. He was my mechanic, my go to person whenever I was broke down on the side of the road. If I needed help, Eric would do whatever it took to make sure the problems were solved.

Eric, I'm glad you're not in pain anymore. Until we meet again! You are in the best hands. I Love You! 🙏

“ Eric was my step father and one of my best friends. We talked almost every single day. He was always there when I needed him. He was always there for my kids, (his grandkids). We went on father daughter dates, had bonfires, sang karaoke, made fun of each other, shared funny videos and photos, vented to one another and just overall enjoyed each others company. I'll miss the music bumping through the house as he pulled into the driveway letting me know he was here. I'll miss the daily text and phone calls, I'll miss his laugh, I'll miss the random visits he made to my house to bring me a snack or just see the grandkids. So much will be missed. So many memories made that I'll cherish forever.. I love you Eric. See you on the other side.

“ Happy 53rd birthday today, Eric. You were the BEST brother anyone could ever ask for and my life will never be the same without you. Losing you has left a scar that will never heal. A piece of me died with you that day. Now, get that rest you so deserve. I LOVE YOU. Your little brother, Jeremy.

“ My nephew Eric was such a caring person who always noticed what others were going through. He often sent me notes to let me know he was thinking of me and my family. My heart breaks for my sister, Michaela, and Dan who must endure the unbearable pain of losing their son long before his time. Eric was so bright, as is his younger brother, Jeremy. They were just fun to talk with and be around. He will be missed so very much, but one day we will join him and be together again. --Aunt Karen Powell

“ To our sweet, loving son Eric:

You suffered through so much pain and health issues the last several years, and yet you never wanted anyone to worry about you. Dad and I would have gladly taken that burden from you if we could. We find solace in knowing that you are now free from all that. We cherish every memory you have given us and will hold them in our hearts forever. You were a bright light in so many people's lives. Now your light shines bright above us all in Heaven. This is not good-bye. Until we are united again, know that we love you to the moon and back!!!

“ Daniel and Michaela. My sincere condolences go out to you both in the loss of your son. I can only imagine the grief you are enduring. We are supposed to go before our children. Allow me to share this with you.. When losing a loved one or friend, I find it gives me a little comfort....

*Shed not for him the bitter tear nor give the heart to vain regret.
Tis but the body you see here,
the Gem that filled it, sparkles yet.*
