“ Mark and Steve were neighbors growing up. I would ride my bike to the end of our lane and we would chat. When I worked in the Courthouse, Mark would stop by on his way to or from the Sheriff's office. We had many good visits. He was one of the good ones! ”

“ Mark and I were classmates and later we both rode to work together for the eight years I worked in the foundry of International Harvester. He was a true brother and great friend. He shared a letter with me a few years ago after my father died. He told me that my father was so proud of me that I hung in there at Harvester. They started each new person on the hardest job and believe me mine was. The first night my arms cramped. The guy I was working with traded places with me till I could rub out the cramps and then back I went. Mark was working an equally hard job and encouraged me when we saw each other at lunch. We were both pretty buff back then. I am so thankful I saw Mark and Julie at our fiftieth reunion and was able to thank him again. Heaven is a brighter place tonight. Much love to Marks family.
