

Mary Heeb

November 30, 1937 - February 23, 2021

Mary Dympna (Boylan) Heeb, born November 30, 1937 in Kells, County Meath, Ireland, died in Palm City, Florida on February 23, 2021. She was the 5th surviving child of James and Julia (Nugent) Boylan. She emigrated to the United States in 1954 eventually meeting and marrying Louis F. Heeb of Rushville, Indiana. They were married for over 50 years before his death in December, 2010. They lived in Ridgefield, Connecticut for almost 30 years, raising their family before retiring to Charlestown Rhode Island in 2000. She had recently moved to Palm City, Florida to be closer to her son and family. Mary is survived by her daughter Delana Lustberg, husband David and son Karl Heeb, wife Pamela, grandchildren Madelyn Lustberg, Nicholas Heeb, Katelyn Heeb, Natalye Lustberg and Lindsey Heeb. Also, brothers James Boylan and wife Gladys of Wigan, England and John Boylan and wife Mona of Ashburn, Ireland along with many nieces and nephews in England, Ireland, Portugal, Australia, Indiana, Ohio and New Jersey. She was also predeceased by brothers Bernard, Michael and sisters Kathleen, Betty and Theresa. Mary was an avid gardener and lover of nature and animals, especially birds.

She was a hairdresser by trade and went back to work after her children were older, eventually opening her own salon that she successfully operated for years. After moving to Rhode Island she honed her gardening skills turning the property into an oasis of flowering plants and trees that would not only be beautiful but also serve a beneficial role of pollinators for all the bees and birds she loved so much.

A celebration of her life and interning of her ashes beside her beloved husband will be held Wednesday, June 26, 2024 at 11:30 AM at East Hill Cemetery, Rushville, Indiana.
