“ My heart is broken into a million pieces. He was my cousin's son and I have so many wonderful memories of him while he was growing up. What a little character he was. I know there is rejoicing in heaven for him now. He will finally get to meet his Grandpa and Grandma Risk. And what a time he must be having with his Dad, Granny and "Aint Nankie" (AKA my mom Nancie. He couldn't pronounce Aunt Nancie so Aint Nankie it was and she loved it) and many more loved ones. So many tears of joy up there with him now; but many many more tears of sorrow left behind. I've loved you from your first day on earth Dickie Lee. Many prayers and gentle hugs going to Carolyn and Tracy and to anyone else who needs them right now. I'm just so sorry beyond words. Rest softly dear one.

“ I was the basketball team manager under inarguably the best coach ever, Ken Stanley we were at Martinsville, Coach told us at halftime, if we can just stay close, we can open an opportunity to beat the Artesians. Late in the fourth quarter, Dickie had 26 points and was tired as heck. His legs were like rubber. Coach called a time out, Randy Frazier massaged Dickies leg to get the best circulation possible. There was 27 seconds on the clock, Jesse Morton knocked the ball loose, Dickie got it, took it down the floor, he called a play I hadnt ever heard of to get Doug Laker in an inside position to get the ball. Dickie pulled Martinsville off guard, he bounced it to Morton, Hit the basline , Morton threw the ball back to Dickie, he almost traveled. No one was on him, he swung around, hit nothing but net. Frazier was so excite he threw the water bottle one the floor hard enough it bounced back up and hit him on the lip. We beat them boys. Dickie was on the floor for 15 minutes just to get enough energy to get up. Coach Stanley took his suit jacket off and slammed it on the bench.

I am so sorry to hear this. He was a great kid to be around, good family person, very close to his dad. I will forever remember him. I am sorry Tracy. It just does not seem fair.

*The best to all of the family
